MARGINAL COLUMN

In a recent issue of "The New Yorker," Donald Malcolm reviews the volume "Declaration" in which a copy of Britain's "Angry Young Men" parade some of the ideas with which they are blackmailing their elders. For while the older generation in Britain is suffering from a type of guilt complex — they were responsible for two world wars and their handling of the aftermath of the second war brought the world to the brink of destruction — the younger is the victim of a curious blend of frustration, anger and the overbearing intellectual arrogance which usually passes with adolescence. Now the curious thing about these essays is that they completely lack ability to talk to their elders. Each other out, they suffer from the "superficiality" of our leaders, cheapness of ideas, while the "humanists" with their philosophy have "produced nothing but mass boredom and frustration, and periodic outbreaks of world war."

NEXT on the list is John Osborne who condemns the Labour Party, the hydrogen bomb, the "Angry Young Men," popular journalism, the London stage, the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge and literary reviews. The author, negativity, "The New Yorker" comments: "this fluency in the difficult and declining art of invective places him beyond the usual capability to talk to their elders." Now Mr. John Wain is as complete logorrhea with Mr. Colin Wilson for he thinks the solution is to "humanize" the society in which we live. Lindsay Anderson, a film critic and director, says "Wain is talking already like an empty-headed, avuncular Tory." Stuart Holroyd, the author of "Emergency in Chaos" is down on humanists, but he does not even mention Wilson's opposite philosophy. "Our present need is not so much to come back to religion as to rediscover it and re-create it." But this does not impress Mr. Wain as the dramatic critic of the "Observer," who says that all these new writers who talk about "new religion" and a "spiritual revival," etc., are really up to Norman Vincent Peale with the "added incitement of spiritual arrogance." Donald Malcolm concludes that "Wain lifts the blanket labelled 'Angry Young Men' and finds not a group but an agglomeration whose members are united by the irreducible minimum of shared assumption that makes dialogue possible."

FROM our point of view the interesting and alarming thing is that it is men who belong to this school of thought who are the more influential organs of public opinion — "New Statesman," "Manchester Guardian," "Observer," "Spectator," etc., and instead of continuing themselves to harmless introspective contemplation, formulate policies. The new upstart, the Arab world has, no agreed philosophy; just an assorted dynamic of fierce anger, prejudices and resentments which can take them a very long way, but must in the end bring them either to complete frustration or explosion into war. It is a kind of revolt of adolescence — of adolescence against adolescence; but with the dangerous tools of modern war put into the hands of these raging youngsters by the unthinking politicians of West and East.

HOW far will this Nasserism be able to go in its drive in the Middle East and Africa? In the Moslem countries probably most of the way; in Africa one is tempted to believe that a reaction will come. This opinion is based on the fact that Africa is not the cultural and spiritual vacuum that so many imagine it to be. In the moment when we are at its moment, but then we see as a nation, have ever possessed it. These African artists really conceive form in three dimensions. R.G. Aitmatov, in "The Golden Age of West African Civilization," writes that "throughout the whole of the Middle Ages, West Africa had a flowering of politico-social organization, attained a greater degree of internal cohesion and was more conscious of the social function of science than Europe."

NOW what killed all this? The answer is simple: the slave trade brought to Africa by the Mohammedans. The young leaders arising in Africa today are intensely conscious of their past and are set likely to allow themselves to be caught — again, even though today the new move to enslave them is dressed up by Nasserism as a revolt against colonialism. Tel Aviv, August 20.

2 Israel Emissaries Were Slain in Algeria

The two Israel emissaries to Algerian Jewry, kidnapped by the terrorists last February, were killed last month, it was officially reported on Monday. Mr. Shraga, head of the Agency's Immigration Department, said in Tel Aviv that the news had reached the World Jewish Congress in New York on Saturday and was transmitted to Jerusalem the following day. The men, Ya'acov Hassan and Raphael Ben-Gera, were kidnapped while travelling in an Arab-owned taxi towards a village where they knew Jews were preparing to leave for Israel. Mr. Shraga said the news was received in Jerusalem the next day and all efforts were made continuously since then to discover the emissaries' whereabouts. The International Red Cross and the French authorities were informed and the W.J.C. established contact with New York representatives of the Algerian terrorist movement, F.L.N.

At the end of February, word reached Algiers that the two "prisoners" were being held in a decision by the Red Cross transmitted a message from the Algerian Red Crescent that the Israelis would "almost certainly be freed."

F.L.N. Assurances
The F.L.N. delegates in New York, Mohammed Yazid and Ali Chanderley, kept assuring the W.J.C. that the men were well and would shortly be freed. Hassan, 36, leaves a wife and five children who live with his parents in the Neguev. Ben-Gera, 38, leaves a wife and two daughters of nine and six.

Mr. Ben-Gera immigrated from Frankfurt, in 1938, and worked as an instructor at Mikve Israel before settling in Batna in 1947. In 1956, he volunteered to instruct new immigrants at Mikve Israel. He was informed of his kidnapping on Monday night, after he returned from a visit to the Anniversary Exhibition in Jerusalem.

The Jewish Agency announced in Jerusalem: Yesterday, the Jewish Agency was advised that a representative of the F.L.N. had declared that the two Israel farmers, Ya'acov Hassan, 36, and Raphael Ben-Gera, 38, kidnapped in Algeria on February 17, 1958, were killed some four to six weeks ago.

The two Israelis had been sent to Algeria by the Jewish Agency to advise prospective immigrants to Israel. Although the Jewish Agency is continuing to verify this

Algerian Terror Claims 30 Killed and Hurt
ALGERS (Reuters). — Thirty persons have been killed or wounded in Algeria in the last three days despite the extra police precautions "typical" as it was disclosed on Monday.

It was announced that French troops killed and wounded 100 insurgents in two days of fighting in a French military patrol has found the bodies of 22 Moslem peasants, including eight women and two children, at Homsa, near Tlemcen, western Algeria. They are believed to have been massacred by insurgents.

On Monday, a military court here ordered a medical examination of Dr. René Kovacs, one of six Europeans charged with attempting to assassinate Gen. Raoul Salan, new Gen. de Gaulle's Delegate-General in Algeria. A report on the examination is to be made on Tuesday.

The defence has pleaded that Kovacs, who is alleged to have organized the attempt on Salan's life with a home-baked bomb in Algiers in January last year, was unfit to appear.

25 Soviet Ships To Bring Egypt Equipment

WARSAW (UPI). — The Communist Party newspaper "Trybuna Ludu" reported on Monday that 25 Soviet ships will arrive shortly in Alexandria, Egypt, with "full equipment for many factories."

The story said this was "one of the greatest operations in the history of the port."

Nasser and Faisal Affirm 'Neutrality'

A joint communique broadcast from Cairo Radio on Monday after talks between Crown Prince Faisal of Saudi Arabia and Abdul Nasser, said they "do not approve the presence of any foreign forces on the territory of any Arab country" and condemn interference by any foreign state or states.

The communique said the talks took place between Friday and Monday. It said "the object of the meeting was to clear the atmosphere between the two sister countries, to strengthen the links of co-operation and brotherhood between them and to work for the consolidation of Arab nationalism on the basis of non-alignment and positive neutrality."

The international situation, as well as the present positions in the Arab countries and in the Middle East area, was examined in these meetings, the communique said, adding that the exchange of views resulted in a "complete agreement" as well as in the reaffirmation of brotherhood and friendship between the two sister countries.

Faisal left Cairo for home by air on Monday, Cairo Radio reported. He was seen off at Al Marza military airport by Abdul Nasser.

200 Feared Dead In Persian Quakes

TEHRAN (UPI). — The earthquakes which rocked the west Persia during the past few days have caused more than 200 deaths, press reports indicated on Monday. The newspapers quoted local Red Cross officials as saying that so far 200 bodies had been removed from the rubble of destroyed houses and other buildings.

The officials were reported to fear that the death toll may rise to 500. Official reports in Tehran, however, put the number of known casualties at 20 killed. But it was admitted that, owing to the interruption of communications, many towns and villages in the Kermanshah and Hamadan districts, exact figures were not known.

Several villages had been razed to the ground and thousands of people were homeless. Kermanshah and Hamadan regions were devastated in earthquakes last year when hundreds were killed and thousands injured.

Floods in Ethiopia

ADDIS ABABA (Reuters). — Floods are covering a wide area 70 kilometers south of the Ethiopian capital and severe damage has been caused. Emperor Haile Selassie on Monday visited the area where troops are assisting in relief and rescue work.

Noon, Nehru Agree To Discuss Border Disputes

KARACHI (Reuters). — Malik Feroz Khan Noon, Pakistani Prime Minister, said here on Monday that he was prepared to meet Mr. Nehru anywhere the Indian Prime Minister wished, to discuss the situation arising from border disputes.

Mr. Noon was replying to reporters at Karachi airport after his return from London. In New Delhi on Monday, Mr. Nehru told the Council of States that he had offered to meet Mr. Noon in New Delhi to discuss recent border incidents.

American Ships, Marines Group At Singapore

SINGAPORE (Reuters). — An American support unit of six ships with nearly 2,000 Marines aboard has been assembled in Singapore in the last 10 days.

In Washington, the U.S. Navy announced on Sunday that American ships and Marines had put into Singapore and would remain in the area for the time being "to help any friendly nation which might be affected by the Middle East crisis."

Navy Department officials said the Navy was trying to build up a group of ships at strategically located ports around the Indian Ocean. It was planned to build up two and other supplies in south-east Asia and the Middle East for the use of any American naval forces operating there.

The support group comprises two transport ships, a freighter, a landing ship and two destroyers. Commander R. N. Billings, Assistant Naval Officer attached to the U.S. Consulate here, said on Monday that as far as he knew the Marines were merely putting in "sea time" and the group would be in Singapore for rest and recreation.

UAR Troops 'Better Armed Than Americans'

WASHINGTON (UPI). — Rep. Robert Stokes said on Monday that the Egyptian and even Yemenite troops have better rifles and machineguns than U.S. soldiers and Marines in the Middle East.

Mr. Stokes, a leading member of the House Military Appropriations Subcommittee, said American soldiers carry only the M-1 Garand rifle and World War I-model machine-guns.

On the other hand, he said, the troops of the United Arab Republic carry Soviet-supplied modern light-weight rifles and machine-guns with greater fire power. He said in a House speech that the situation in the Middle East is "a real test of morale."

Best American Missiles Said 'Second Best'

WASHINGTON (UPI). — Sen. Donald W. Bilbo of Lyndon B. Johnson said on Monday that the explosion of this country's first moon probe rocket was a "grim warning" that the U.S. missiles are "second best" to Russia's.

At the same time, Lieut. Gen. Robert Wilson, U.S. Air Force research and development chief, said that a new U.S. rocket to shoot a rocket to the moon will be made in 28 days. But he added that the Russians "might beat us to it," because their location would give them "an earlier shot by a day or two" when conditions are ripe.

Mr. Johnson, Chairman of the Senate Space Committee, agreed with several other key Congressmen that "the fact that the moon shot failed is not too significant" in itself. "What is significant," Mr. Johnson said, "is that we are still so far behind the Russians in our space program with our best and most thoroughly tested rockets."

SAS Opens Direct Link With Chinese Airlines

LONDON (UPI). — The Scandinavian Airlines System announced on Monday that it has opened the way to direct flights to the Far East, and observers here regarded the development as a promising wedge easing civilian air travel across the border dispute.

It does not permit SAS to fly into China, but for air travelers to cross China, it means foreign passengers can now buy tickets to a SAS booking office anywhere in the world. Formerly passengers had to make individual arrangements with the Civil Aviation Administration of China, which operates and controls all domestic and international Chinese air services.

Jordan Reiterates Flights Blocked

Jordan will not permit any plane which has stopped over at Lydda to land at Amman, an official spokesman declared in Amman on Sunday, according to "El Jihad."

Such a policy is common to all Arab countries and any Jordanian government is obliged to implement it, he added.

Reports from London said that Air France may resume the airlift of supplies to the British troops in Jordan across Israel airspace. Israel had refused to sanction further crossings by British and American planes.

Third of Beirut Is Cordoned Off

BEIRUT (Reuters). — Nearly one-third of Beirut's commercial area was cordoned off on Tuesday in a new move to combat terrorist bomb explosions.

Only official cars and vehicles with special permission were allowed into the area. All other persons, mainly shoppers, had to move on foot. The aim of the authorities is to exercise control over merchandise being taken into the area, among which dynamite bombs have been concealed practically daily over the past fortnight.

At a press conference, Chamoun declared he saw no prospect of any demand being made for the withdrawal of American forces before he quits office on September 23. Chamoun said, "I am going to continue the political battle so that we may be sure that the independence of this country has been preserved, and so we may be sure that there will be no fear for its freedom and independence."

Rebel Gets U.S. Visa

WASHINGTON (UPI). — The State Department confirmed on Monday that Nasim Majmalani, Lebanese rebel representative, had received a U.S. visa several weeks ago. Majmalani had left for New York on Sunday to attend the General Assembly meeting as a representative of the Lebanese opposition.

Busy Day at Akaba

EILAT. — A British freighter, two tankers and 14 frigates were seen putting in at Akaba on Monday, establishing a modern record for the Gulf of Eilat. The ships discharged their cargo and put out to sea.

Only two ships are anchored in Eilat harbour. (Times)

Iraq Abandons Jordanian Prisoners to the Desert

An Arab Legion patrol has rescued a group of 36 Jordanian prisoners from the desert in Iraq and sent them to the desert to make their way across to Jordan on foot without food and water. Amman Radio reported on Monday night.

The Jordanians, who will be brought to Amman on Tuesday, were found in a state of near collapse after wandering in the desert for a day and a half. It was stated. They were picked up by the patrol 80 km. east of the H-1 oil pumping station. They informed their rescuers that they were suddenly freed from prison, transported and turned out in the desert in Iraqi territory near the Baghdad-Amman road, without any food or water.

Wide Support for Mild Formula on Mid-East

Jordan Limits Tasks of U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters). — The Jordan delegate announced on Monday that his country would "always be ready to welcome the presence of the United Nations in Jordan in a form which my Government finds fit to overcome the present crisis."

Abdul Munim Rifai, chief Jordan delegate, made the statement as the General Assembly resumed the emergency debate on the Middle East situation. It followed up his statement in the Assembly last week that Jordan would oppose having a U.N. force, or even observers, within its borders.

Rifai said, "My Government has cooperated with the Secretary-General in every matter that was of concern to the U.N. as well as to Jordan itself." He told the Assembly that Jordan had been opposed to the stationing of a U.N. force on Jordan soil at the time when members were debating the question of sending a force to patrol the Egyptian-Israeli border. This was a stand she still held, he added.

Referring to the dispatch of an observer group to Jordan similar to that in the Lebanon, he declared, "My Government is convinced that such a group is not the answer to the present problem." Rifai said he wished to make a brief statement because "the views of my Government regarding British troops in Jordan seem to have been inaccurately interpreted by some." He emphasized that the British forces are in Jordan only as a temporary measure, and that as soon as the U.N. makes "adequate arrangements," Jordan will ask for their withdrawal.

Russia is There

Mr. Christian Pallas, a Greek representative, said it would be unrealistic to recognize that the Soviet Union "is already playing an important role in the balance of the 'big powers' in the Middle East."

He said, "This being so, it becomes evident that the current interest of the West of the Soviet Union, and mainly of the Arab peoples, is to keep the Middle East out of the game of power politics. Some think of this necessity in terms of neutralizing the whole area."

The immediate problem of the Middle East was not the withdrawal of British troops from Jordan or U.S. troops from the Lebanon but "that of the safekeeping of the peace which can afford to the two countries."

Mr. Arthur Lal of India, describing Arab nationalism, said "it is not imperative for people to express their national aspirations." He termed Arab nationalism as a "powerful, dynamic force."

The Quaker Oats Company, New York of the Iraqi revolution, there were outcries that "violence had been perpetrated." But he said the new regime is conducting itself "in a manner far more humane than that of its predecessor."

De Murville Leaves For Assembly Session

PARIS (UPI). — Gen. Charles de Gaulle decided on Monday to send his Foreign Minister to the General Assembly session on the Middle East, but informed sources said he remained pessimistic that it would accomplish very much.

The Quaker Oats Company, New York of the Iraqi revolution, there were outcries that "violence had been perpetrated." But he said the new regime is conducting itself "in a manner far more humane than that of its predecessor."

U.S., U.K. Pledge Evacuation

By JESSE KEL LUBER, Jerusalem Post Correspondent
UNITED NATIONS. — Eighty-one nations showed hard over a long weekend and on Monday evening gave birth to a mouse-like resolution which asks Secretary-General Hammarskjold to maintain peace in the Middle East.

The resolution is accompanied by letters from the U.S. Secretary of State, Mr. Dulles, and the British Prime Minister, Mr. Macmillan, promising the withdrawal of troops from the Lebanon and Jordan.

The unusual gimmick of adding the letters to the resolution was decided upon in the early hours of this morning in order to satisfy many delegations, notably the Latin Americans, normally friendly to the West, who refused to support the resolution without the freedom of suggesting cause and effect — that the U.N. should do something so that the troops could be withdrawn — implied that the U.N. was justified in sending troops.

The long history of U.S. armed intervention in Latin American countries made the Latin Americans wary of the international approval to such action in a country beset by civil strife.

This was the only one of many objections the resolution sponsors had to overcome in order to win majority support. At one time, there were 24 different resolutions circulating, each with its own view on how best to get the Assembly "off the hook" and go home.

No Real Power

No one believes the Assembly or Mr. Hammarskjold has any real power to settle Middle Eastern affairs. The objective most delegates can therefore achieve, is a quick compromise so that the Assembly can end this week while the U.S. and Britain are still in the area.

Mr. Hammarskjold, the first report to be not later than September 30.

Note that Mr. Hammarskjold had studied in preparation for his mission to the next regular Assembly of the United Nations the possibility of establishing a stand-by U.N. peace force.

Finally it would require member states to cooperate fully in carrying out the resolution.

After Midnight

The first scheduled plane of the Olympic Airways, a company controlled by Aristotle Onassis, arrived at Lydda Airport on Monday night. The plane, DCS-B, will fly twice a week from London, stopping at Paris, Rome and Athens.

Chinese Resume Quenoy Shelling

TAIPEI (Reuters). — The Communists on Monday resumed shelling the Nationalist-held Quemoy Island group, and increased air activity in the Matsu area to the north. The Nationalist Air Force said Communist jet planes had moved into Lungtjen air-base on the Fuchien coast, only 100 miles from Formosa. Lungtjen is now the closest mainland Communist airfield to Formosa.

Deadlock in 10-Day-Old

Friedmann Plant Strike

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The ten-day-old strike at the Friedmann stove plant in Jerusalem, which employs 200 workers, reached a deadlock on Monday with the Ministry of Labour mediator, Mr. Gili Schaal, announcing that he was withdrawing his good offices since neither side showed signs of accepting any of his compromise proposals.

Mr. Schaal added, however, that he would be ready to resume his efforts if both sides expressed willingness to settle the dispute.

So far, the Management has not moved from its stand that Mr. Friedmann, General Secretary of the plant's Workers Committee, should not be allowed to return to his job pending clarification of his case. (He was dismissed for being absent from his work for smoking in the latrine).

Workers Committee demands his immediate reinstatement, claiming that an employee cannot be deprived of his livelihood on the basis of unilateral action by the Management.

Haifa Port Strike

Over Temporarily

HAIFA. — The 381 casual workers in Haifa Port ended their 24-hour slowdown Monday morning after the Haifa Labour Council agreed temporarily to return to work for the four representatives of the casual workers' union.

The Labour Council's action came after the Minister of Transport, Mr. M. Carmel, intervened. According to the settlement, negotiations will continue on the status of the casual workers.

They were protesting against the withholding by the Port Labour Secretariat of work from their four representatives. The Secretariat, ruling that it alone represented all Port workers, had ordered the four men to sign an undertaking dissolving the casual workers' organization.

The men returned to their job in the second shift after demonstrating outside the Labour Council building and the port.

Licence Official

Again Remanded

M. Goldfine, a tester at the Motor Vehicle Licensing Bureau in Jerusalem who suspected of having accepted bribes to pass applicants, was again remanded on Monday, for seven days, by Judge B. Sherevsky, in the Jerusalem District Court.

The remand was ordered on the District Attorney's appeal against Magistrate Y. Hershkovitz's ruling on Friday releasing Goldfine on $14,000 bail and placing him under house arrest at the home of his brother-in-law. The District Attorney had requested a remand of 15 days.

Solei Boneh Chiefs Refuse New Posts

Jerusalem Post Staff

TEL AVIV. — Eight top managers of various Solei Boneh enterprises have informed Hevrat Ovdim that they would not accept membership on the reorganized Solei Boneh board.

They are Messrs. David Hachem, M.K. Aharon Kerner, M. Yacov Shor, B. Margolin, B. Kav-Venaki, Yacov Shulman, M. Roehel and A. Laufer. It is believed that Mr. Hachem, head of the new Solei Boneh, who is now recuperating in Switzerland, will join the eight.

P. Lavon, Histadrut Secretary-General and Chairman of the new Solei Boneh Executive, has gone to Haifa to try and placate the group.

It is believed, however, that the dispute cannot end other than in the resignation either of the eight men from their posts or of P. Lavon from his position as Chairman of the Executive.

From Hevrat Ovdim circles it was learned that the new Solei Boneh has begun functioning, and that, in general, no further appointments to the boards will be made.

Hevrat Ovdim on Monday announced the resignation of the seven members of the board of Koor. They are Messrs. I. Hachem, M. Roehel, B. Margolin, B. Kav-Venaki, Yacov Shulman, M. Roehel and A. Laufer.

The Minister made this promise after demands were voiced by municipal chiefs that the Government honor its undertaking to pay IL2.5m. as grants-in-aid and increase its contribution to their development budgets.

The Minister declared that although the Treasury had announced that no further grants were forthcoming, he would submit his demands for a larger budget. He hoped that his pressure would bear fruit but he could not give a definite promise.

Yehuda hoped that the Government would increase contributions to the local authorities in the coming year.

Municipal chiefs, by Mayor P. Raishish of Petah Tikva, charged that the Ministry ignored the local authorities' demands for a larger budget.

Mr. D.F. Du Plessis, the South African contestant and the acknowledged winner of the group, earlier previously obliged an engineer by enunciating clearly into the microphones: "It is indeed a great honour to have been chosen the world Bible champion."

Some 200 policemen—mounted, car-borne and on foot—have been detailed to the amphitheatre and its approaches. Eight plainclothesmen on Monday afternoon began their assignment of guarding the 14 interpreters (in eight languages) who are working out translations of the questions in a semi-circular corridor at the Eden Hotel.

Flags of the participating countries were hoisted Monday morning around the circular ring of the amphitheatre.

A minor ideological quarrel has reared its head among the organizers — Kol Yisrael insisting the flags be placed according to French alphabetical order, the Hebrew alphabet, and the English alphabet.

Both sides expressed a compromise that a solution would be found.

On the podium, Kol Yisrael engineers have rigged up an ingenious device to move the battery of four microphones from contestant to contestant. A groove has been cut along the table front and a simple clothes line drawn from one end to the other, along which the microphones will move at the word "next" by a hand wheel. Behind the contestants is the interpreters' table with a similar device.

First Elimination

The contest will actually open at 10 a.m., when the contestants will be seated in the Kaplan School auditorium with the judges, president, and translators for the opening half of the first round.

This phase of the contest will not be open to the public and will not be broadcast. At about one o'clock, the contestants will be seated in their rooms at the Kings Hotel and rest in preparation for the gala evening session.

After the entrance of the President and the Prime Minister, Hatikva will be played by the Kol Yisrael Orchestra and sung by the Rinal Choir, conducted by Gary Eitel, who will follow with a rendition "Out of Zion Shall Come Forth the Law."

The main speakers on Monday will be the President, the Prime Minister, and the Minister of Education, Mr. Y. Ben-Zur, who will speak on the "Reception and Development of Common Law in the State of Israel," and Justice Zvi Ben-Zion, of the Israel Supreme Court, and Mr. Israel Bar-Ziv, of the Social and Labour Legislation.

Mayor Gershon Agron and the Jerusalem Municipality held a reception at the Rose Garden in the late afternoon. (Some of the legal aspects of the lectures are to be reviewed in forthcoming Jerusalem Post Law Reports.)

Jurists Discuss Legal Problems

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The International Lawyers Convention on Monday settled down to its deliberative discussions which are to continue until Wednesday afternoon.

The main speakers on Monday were Lord Denning, a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary, on "Responsibility before the Law," Prof. Zelman Cowen, Dean of the Faculty of Law in the University of Melbourne, on "The Constitution of Malaysia," Judge Henry E. Hall, of the High Court of the Republic of South Africa, on "The Constitution of the Republic of South Africa," and Justice Zvi Ben-Zion, of the Israel Supreme Court, and Mr. Israel Bar-Ziv, of the Social and Labour Legislation.

New U.S. Terms For Book Purchases

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The U.S. State Department is prepared to make $1.5m. available to Israel for the import of American books under the Information Media Guarantee Programme if Israel agrees to pay IL1.500 per dollar for the books purchased instead of IL1.400 as heretofore, it was learned Monday.

If Israel accepts the American proposal, the Israel public will pay for books at the rate of IL2.500 per dollar instead of IL2.000.

Even Vasid Stops Work in Quarry

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — Even Vasid, the Solei Boneh quarrying firm, has informed the Director General of the Development Ministry, Mr. M. Bader, that it has agreed to cease working in the Malkhish Hagadol flint quarries.

Even Vasid had received in the past a concession from the Ministry's firm "Harshit Vahol Zach," which has developed after the latter had found that it could cut production costs by 50 per cent — from IL38 per ton to IL13 per ton.

The dispute over the quarrying even flared into violence and Hevrat Ovdim, the Histadrut holding company, complained to the Ministry of a "cease fire" and to Mr. Bader's arbitration.

Mr. Bader received the backing of Hevrat Ovdim chiefs in his efforts to settle the dispute. The estimates of "Harshit Vahol Zach" and Even Vasid has now agreed to give up its concession on condition that it receives "suitable compensation," it is learned.

'Pamaz' Accounts Made Less Attractive

Jerusalem Post Staff

Exporters will now have to deduct transport and insurance costs from their foreign currency deposits (pamaz), it has been announced by the Ministry of Finance. (Exporters are allowed to retain their returns from export sales in the form of foreign currency deposits abroad, known as pazam.) This decision will apply to goods exported since August 15.

Insurance and transport account for about eight per cent of total export returns. Since the added value of some exports amount to only 10 to 15 per cent, the worthlessness of such exports made against pazam accounts is now questionable.

It is hoped that the new system will induce exporters to change over from the pazam to the export premium system accorded by the Government.

Export premiums totalling IL7.7m. were granted during the 7th month of July, the Ministry spokesman announced. Of this, IL5.4m. were given to exporters of industrial goods and diamonds, IL1.2m. for agricultural exports, IL1.07m. were paid to exporters of groundnuts.

Stricter Control Of Local Authorities

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — The Ministry of Interior will in future impose stricter control on the financial reports of the local authorities. The Minister, Mr. Y. Ben-Zur, is announcing this to a meeting of the Union of Local Authorities on Monday, reported the formation of a Municipal Research Bureau in the Ministry. He strongly criticized the authorities' delay in submitting their budgets for approval. The Mayors of Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and Haifa were absent from the meeting.

Mr. Ben-Zur promised municipal leaders that they would receive almost all the proceeds from the entertainment tax and from Mifal Hapayim, from which only the large municipalities had benefited until now.

In the coming budgetary year the Minister would distribute IL7.5m. which remained from the 1956 Municipal Loan issue. Similarly, the Finance Minister had assured him of grants totalling IL1.5m.

The Minister made this promise after demands were voiced by municipal chiefs that the Government honor its undertaking to pay IL2.5m. as grants-in-aid and increase its contribution to their development budgets.

The Minister declared that although the Treasury had announced that no further grants were forthcoming, he would submit his demands for a larger budget. He hoped that his pressure would bear fruit but he could not give a definite promise.

Bible Contestants Hold Dress Rehearsal for Tonight's Quiz

Jerusalem Post Reporter

Five buglers will sound a fanfare at 8.25 tonight (Tuesday) when President Ben-Zvi arrives at the Hebrew University amphitheatre, as a sign that the International Bible Quiz has begun. At a dress rehearsal at the amphitheatre Monday afternoon, the 15 contestants from 14 countries took the seats they will occupy before 2,400 persons tonight.

To test microphones and get accustomed to procedure, they answered questions posed by Mr. Amihai Gurevitch, the moderator, and received enthusiastic applause from a scattered audience when they replied to such queries as "Who was the wife of Adam?" and "Who was the father of Joshua, the son of Nun?"

Bus Co-op Wage Enquiry Ends

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — The Bartal Commission's enquiry into the wage structures of three bus cooperatives has been concluded and the commission will submit its conclusions to the Histadrut Secretary-General, Mr. P. Lavon, by the week-end, it was learned here on Monday.

The commission was appointed by Hevrat Ovdim three months ago and is composed of representatives of the Histadrut and the three bus cooperatives. Its chairman, Mr. Moshe Bartal, was formerly head of the Hevrat Ovdim Bureau. He now heads the Histadrut's Productivity Division.

It is understood that the report will recommend the abolition of the equal wages system and the introduction of graded pay in accordance with function. Similarly, all extra increments which formed "hidden" income will end, and a "realistic" scale will be introduced. This latter decision has aroused the opposition of the bus cooperatives.

In the meantime, the Enquiry Commission led by Mayor Abba Khoussy of Haifa is continuing its efforts to discover the best means of nationalizing the cooperatives. Many months are expected to elapse before it issues its recommendations.

Haifa Port Strike Over Temporarily

Jerusalem Post Reporter

HAIFA. — The 381 casual workers in Haifa Port ended their 24-hour slowdown Monday morning after the Haifa Labour Council agreed temporarily to return to work for the four representatives of the casual workers' union.

The Labour Council's action came after the Minister of Transport, Mr. M. Carmel, intervened. According to the settlement, negotiations will continue on the status of the casual workers.

They were protesting against the withholding by the Port Labour Secretariat of work from their four representatives. The Secretariat, ruling that it alone represented all Port workers, had ordered the four men to sign an undertaking dissolving the casual workers' organization.

The men returned to their job in the second shift after demonstrating outside the Labour Council building and the port.

Licence Official Again Remanded

M. Goldfine, a tester at the Motor Vehicle Licensing Bureau in Jerusalem who suspected of having accepted bribes to pass applicants, was again remanded on Monday, for seven days, by Judge B. Sherevsky, in the Jerusalem District Court.

The remand was ordered on the District Attorney's appeal against Magistrate Y. Hershkovitz's ruling on Friday releasing Goldfine on $14,000 bail and placing him under house arrest at the home of his brother-in-law. The District Attorney had requested a remand of 15 days.

Boy, 11, Drowns

REHOVOT. — An eleven-year-old boy, Shalom Hassan, of the Kibbutz Ma'Nah, drowned at the Rubia Beach near Ness Ziona on Monday afternoon. Three other boys of about the same age who were in trouble far out at sea were rescued by an unknown swimmer.

The drowning took place when 10 boys and girls, aged 10 and 11, took off from their work in a nearby vineyard to go swimming. Four of the boys swam out of their depth and got into trouble. The man, whom police have not yet identified, swam out to the rescue and brought back three of the boys.

The body of Hassan was washed ashore an hour later, one kilometre south of the beach.

Police Seeking Hit-Run Driver

NAZARETH. — Police are seeking the driver of a lorry bearing licence number 75-845 which killed a seven-year-old boy on the Nazareth main road and fled from the scene of the accident.

Also being sought is a man who vanished after he was heard to shout in Hebrew: "Driver, halt, you've killed a boy!" (T.M.)
